"In the United States, which is the most competitive and among the most deregulated long distance markets in the world, competition is based upon pricing, customer service, network quality, and the ability to provide value-added services. AT&T is the largest supplier of long distance services, with MCI WorldCom and Sprint being the next largest providers. In the future, under the provisions of recently enacted federal legislation, the Company anticipates that it will also compete with Regional Bell Operating Companies ("RBOCs"), Local Exchange Carriers ("LECs") and Internet Service Providers ("ISPs") in providing domestic and international long distance services." <www.sec.gov>.
